

Table of Contents

Editorial: Participatory Methodologies and Educational Research Ronél Ferreira	1 – 3
Starting with ourselves in deepening our understanding of generativity in participatory educational research Linda van Laren, Ronicka Mudaly, Kathleen Pithouse-Morgan, Shakila Singh	1 – 16
PALAR as a methodology for community engagement by faculties of education Lesley Wood, Ortrun Zuber-Skerrit	1 – 15
Community-researcher liaisons: the Pathways to Resilience Project Advisory Panel Linda C Theron	1 – 19
Social transformation starts with the self: An autobiographical perspective on the thinking style preferences of an educator Pieter H du Toit	1 – 12
Preparing pre-service teachers as emancipatory and participatory action researchers in a teacher education programme Omar Esau	1 – 10
Masihambisane , lessons learnt using participatory indigenous knowledge research approaches in a school-based collaborative project of the Eastern Cape Thenjiwe Meyiwa, Tebello Letsekha, Lisa Wiebesiek	1 – 15
Using participatory action research to develop an HIV and Aids school plan Ronél Ferreira, Liesel Ebersöhn, Karien Botha	1 – 17
Parents as partners: building collaborations to support the development of school readiness skills in under-resourced communities Catherine Pitt, Rosemary Luger, Ann Bullen, Diana Phillips, Martha Geiger	1 – 14
What can a teacher do with a cellphone? Using participatory visual research to speak back in addressing HIV&AIDS Claudia Mitchell, Naydene de Lange	1 – 13
“You know the homophobic stuff is not in me, like us, it’s out there”. Using Participatory Theatre to challenge heterosexism and heteronormativity in a South African school Dennis Francis	1 – 14
Active facilitation of focus groups: exploring the implementation of inclusive education with research participants Norma RA Romm, Norma M Nel, Lloyd DN Tlale	1 – 14
Sexuality educators: taking a stand by participating in research Christa Beyers	1 – 14
Call for papers	1 – 2